IV.	General Procedures for Promotional Coupons and Coupons for Complimentary Cash, Chips or Electronic Credits .....	5

I. General

- A. In addition to complying with these Minimum Internal Control Standards (MICS), Authorized Gaming Operators are required to comply with the Nebraska Racetrack Gaming Act and Nebraska Racing and Gaming Commission (NRGC) Adopted Rules.
- B. In addition to written procedures, flowcharts, although not required, may be included in the Internal Control Standards (ICS). Flowcharts must mirror the written procedures, however if there is a difference noted, the written procedures must be the procedures followed.
- C. These MICS include general names for positions and forms. Specific titles and form names must be included in the Authorized Gaming Operator's Internal Controls.
- D. Unless otherwise stated when the term "non-gaming employee" is used throughout these MICS, an approved "non-gaming employee" shall be a member of the accounting, food and beverage, valet, maintenance, housekeeping, hotel operations, retail, and gift shop departments, and other personnel as determined by the NRGC.
- E. The lowest job title of that department with the authority for that duty must be listed in the ICS procedures. Employees with higher authority within the same department may perform these duties, except where specifically noted in the ICS. When a higher job title of that department performs the duties of a lower job title of that department, they may not then perform verification of their own work.
- F. A lower job title may be assigned the job duties of a higher job title within the same department for the gaming day, provided that the assigned job title is within the same NRGC Occupational License Badge Level. An employee temporarily working in the higher job title may not perform verification of their own work. Once assigned to the higher job title, the employee cannot return to their lower job title for the rest of the gaming day. Any lower job title elevated to a supervisory job title cannot accept tips or gratuities while performing the job duties of the higher job title.
- G. Sensitive areas are those areas that management or the NRGC considers sensitive to the Authorized Gaming Operators' operation and therefore require strict control over access (e.g. pits, count rooms, cage, and surveillance rooms).

II. Internal Control Standards

The Internal Control Standards must include the following:

- A. Organizational charts for the Authorized Gaming Operators, from the Board of Directors (or equivalent) on down and for all gaming related departments including live games, electronic gaming devices, drop and count, casino cashiering and credit, internal audit, casino accounting, surveillance, security, marketing, purchasing and contract administration, admissions, and management information system;
- B. A detailed description of each position shown on the organizational charts which includes:
  - 1. Duties and responsibilities;
  - 2. Immediate supervisor;
  - 3. Positions directly supervised;

4. Signatory ability, including alternate procedures in cases in which the required signature is unable to perform his duty; and
  5. Access to sensitive assets and areas; and
- C. Type of training employees receive regarding the Nebraska Racetrack Gaming Act, NRGCC Adopted Rules and the Authorized Gaming Operators’.
- D. Owners, Board of Directors or officers/executives must not have unaccompanied access to sensitive areas. If a reason exists for such person or persons to access a sensitive area, the NRGCC Supervisor/Agent must be notified and give permission prior to access. Security must accompany such person or persons while in a sensitive area. Security must obtain prior NRGCC approval before entering surveillance.

III. Signatures

- A. All handwritten signatures must include the employee's first name last name and their NRGCC occupational license number.
- B. Electronic signature methods may be used if approved by the NRGCC Executive Director. An electronic signature includes a non-handwritten unique means of identifying an individual based upon a system of administrative controls (such as passwords, personal identification codes, and/or bar codes) or biometrics (such as retinal scans, voice prints, hand prints and/or finger prints). An electronic signature must be the legally binding equivalent of a handwritten signature.
- C. If electronic signatures are used, the ICS must include a description of the electronic signature system and its configuration, including:
1. Procedures and controls designed to ensure the authenticity and integrity of electronic signatures and to ensure that the signer cannot readily repudiate the electronic signature as not genuine;
  2. The ability to generate complete copies of records with electronic signatures in readable format suitable for inspection, review, copying and printing; and
  3. Establishment of, and adherence to, written policies that hold individuals accountable and responsible for actions initiated under their electronic signature, in order to deter record and signature falsification.
- D. Electronic signatures that are not based upon biometrics must employ at least two distinct identification components such as an identification code and password and be used only by their genuine owners. Licensees who use electronic signatures based upon use of identification codes in combination with passwords must employ controls to ensure their security and integrity, including:
1. Maintaining the uniqueness of each combined identification code and password, such that no two individuals have the same combination of identification code and password;
  2. Ensuring that identification code and password issuances are periodically and properly checked, revised, and recalled (such as recall immediately after an employee's separation from employment);
  3. Following loss management procedures to electronically deactivate lost, stolen, missing or otherwise potentially compromised cards and other devices that bear or

- generate identification code or password information, and to issue temporary or permanent replacements using suitable, rigorous controls; and
4. Use of transaction safeguards to prevent unauthorized use of passwords and/or identification codes and detect and report in an immediate manner any attempts at their unauthorized use to system security.
- E. Documents that employ electronic signatures must contain information associated with the signing that clearly indicate all of the following:
1. The printed name of the signer as described in the ICS; and
  2. The date and time when the signature was executed.
- F. Electronic signatures and handwritten signatures executed to the electronic documents must be linked to their respective electronic documents to ensure that the signatures cannot be removed, copied or otherwise transferred so as to falsify an electronic document.

1. The verification mechanism shall be readily accessible via a communication port and utilize the Game Authentication Terminal (GAT) protocol v3.50 or higher, or an equivalent protocol approved by the NRG.
  2. The communication port shall be located within the EGD and allow connectivity without requiring access to the locked logic area. If the port is located on the backplane of the interior cabinet, an extension cable shall be permanently mounted to allow connection of the required cable towards the front interior of the cabinet.
  3. The EGD must provide on-demand authentication of CPSDs. This function shall not require the power to be cycled and the execution time shall not exceed twenty (20) minutes.
  4. The EGD must generate a unique signature for each CPSD utilizing secure hashing algorithm-1 (SHA-1) with hash-based message authentication code (HMAC), as defined by the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST), Hashing methodologies will be continually reevaluated by the NRG.
  5. The EGD must provide support for escrowing and retrieving verification results. Verification results shall be preserved and retrievable pending a subsequent verification request or a loss of power.
  6. The EGD must allow an authentication to be sent to the machine then after a disconnect of communications, retrieved later. During the disconnect of communications it is recommended that the EGD be capable of being put back into a playable state. If this is not possible, the EGD must at least be capable of being placed into a disabled state.

- B. The EGD shall be designed to permit a copy of critical non-volatile (NV) memory to be extracted utilizing tools and procedures approved by the NRCG and which shall be provided by the manufacturer. The independent test laboratory, prior to EGD approval, shall verify that such tools and procedures exist, for the purpose of forensic examination.
- C. The RNG used in the determination of game outcomes in an EGD shall be cryptographically strong. “Cryptographically strong” means that the RNG is resistant to attack or compromise by an intelligent attacker with modern computational resources, and who may have knowledge of the source code of the RNG.
- D. No game on an EGD may function similarly to or bear any outward appearance to any game regulated by Department of Lottery, which includes lotteries, raffles, pickle cards, bingo, keno, or games which produce an outcome predominantly caused by skill and not chance. This should not preclude the use of games of chance with skill-based features or games based on traditional casino games (e.g., poker, blackjack, etc.).

III. Cashless Wagering Systems

- A. A Cashless Wagering System allows patrons to participate in cashless gaming using an approved, securely protected authentication method, which accesses a Patron Account at the Cashless Wagering System of the operator or another account of the patron provided that it allows for the identification of the patron and the source of funds and that is linked in a secure manner to the Cashless Wagering System of the operator and the Patron Account on that Cashless Wagering System.
  - 1. A Cashless Wagering System may also support the functionality to communicate promotional awards to participating Patron Accounts based upon predefined patron activity criteria established by the parameters of the system. Promotional awards are additional features that entitle patrons to special promotional awards based on patrons play activity or awards gifted by the casino to guests. In this section, unless otherwise specified the term “cashless” shall be used to refer to both promotional and non-promotional functionality.
  - 2. A Cashless Wagering System may be entirely integrated into an existing system, such as a monitoring and control system, or exist as an entirely separate entity. - C. Each cashless transactions between a supporting Cashless Device and the Cashless Wagering System must be secured using a method of authentication, such as debit instrument or card insertion or “tap” (contactless) capacity on the patron identification component and secure personal identification code/PIN entry, a similar approved process that allows for the identification of the patron and the source of funds when an approved third-party secure interface that uses a defined protocol, or similar software application on a patron’s device (such as a smartphone or tablet) is used, or a secure alternative means (e.g. finger-print recognition).

- D. Cashless Wagering Systems shall cause a relevant, informative message to be displayed to the patron whenever any cashless transaction is being processed.
1. The Cashless Device, or the patron's device with a secure interface that uses a defined protocol, must be capable of providing confirmation or denial of every cashless transaction initiated.
  2. If a patron initiates a cashless transaction and that transaction exceeds cashless device configured limits including the credit limit or transaction limit, the transaction may only be processed provided that the patron is clearly notified that the patron has received or deposited less than requested to avoid patron disputes.
- E. Where credits are transferred between the Patron Account and the Cashless Device:
1. After the patron's identity is confirmed, the Cashless Device must present transfer options to the patron. Such options may include how many credits the patron wishes to withdraw and be placed on the Cashless Device. A system may move either a predefined amount or the patron's entire balance to the cashless device for play.
  2. A transfer shall not be accepted if the transfer will cause the patron to have a negative balance;
  3. The account balance is to be debited when the transfer is accepted;
  4. Once play is complete the patron may have the option to move some of the credits back to the account or cash out some or all of the credits. A system may require that the entire currency value of the credit balance be transferred back to the system.
- F. Where credits are NOT transferred between the Patron Account and the Cashless Device:
1. A wager shall not be accepted that could cause the patron to have a negative balance; and
  2. The account balance is to be debited when the wager is accepted.
- G. Any Cashless Device that holds information relating to cashless transactions in its memory shall not have means to compromise the information and shall not allow the removal of its information until that information has been successfully transferred and acknowledged by the Cashless Wagering System.
- H. The Cashless Wagering System shall be able to produce logs for all pending and completed cashless transactions including:
1. Patron Account ID or unique transaction ID, either of which can be used to authenticate the source of the funds;
  2. Type of transaction including any restrictions;
  3. Transaction amount;
  4. Time and date of the transaction;
  5. Cashless Device number or other relevant location information; and
  6. Status of the transaction
- I. The following minimal internal controls shall be implemented to identify and flag suspect Patron Accounts to prevent unauthorized use including:
1. Establishing a maximum number of three successive incorrect authentication attempts before account logout;

2. Flagging of hot accounts where cards or authentication credentials have been stolen;
3. Monitoring Cashless Devices for funds transferred into the Cashless Device from one Patron Account then transferred out to another Patron Account; and
4. Monitoring Patron Accounts for opening and closing in short time frames and for deposits and withdrawal without associated game play transactions.

IV. Client Server Systems

- A. The Client Server System shall not be capable of altering any component on any connected EGD that would interrupt, or affect the functions, game outcome, or configurable options of a game in progress on any EGD connected to the Client Server System; provided however, that a Client Server System may suspend a game theme or disable a EGD at any time if there is a valid reason to do so.
- B. Software shall not be activated, deactivated, added to, modified or removed from an EGD while an error or tilt condition, or hand pay lockup exists on the EGD, except as necessary to rectify the error condition.
- C. The EGD shall be in the idle mode with no activity, no credits, no door open, and no error condition for at least two (2) minutes prior to the change in the active software unless the change is the direct result of a patron request, or a qualifying event that is not an identifier, which may include, but is not limited to, the number of games played, or the cumulative amount wagered by a patron during a game or series of games as provided for in the rules of play. Active software consists of the following:
  1. All the games currently available for play by the patron on the EGD that do not first require additional software or a change in game configuration such as denomination, maximum wager, return to patron, etc.; and
  2. Any software in which a change will interrupt normal game play (e.g., operating system software and peripheral firmware).
